Publication ethics and plagiarism policy

IJSRCAMS is the journal committed to quality article publication. The articles submitted to this journal, undergo peer review and final decision will be taken by chief editor based on reviewers comments and recommendations.

Duties of Chief Editor:

Assign proper and suitable subject expert as reviewer for an article.

Decision of acceptance/accept with modifications/reject.

Duties of Reviewer:

A reviewer should observe and analyze the papers. The reviewer is responsible for deciding whether an article is suitable for present research trends, and is the article is having any impact on research community. The reviewer is responsible for evaluating the results presented in an article.

Duties of Authors:

Authors are responsible to check whether the article meets the scope of the journal. Author should not copy any text from any article which comes under the act of plagiarism. Originality of the text without plagiarism is the responsibility of the author. Authors are solely responsible for the consequences after the publication of an article.